- Name: Fianna Paradis
- Current Position: Stress Relief Coach at American Tradition
- Activity: "What are you working on?"

Next steps: Continue completing the areas below with the goal of reaching 100%.

- Position – add all positions and careers current and past
- Education – complete formal education and list university names
- Picture – use a current photo which we will use across all social network sites
- Summary – include professional experience and goals using keywords if possible
- Specialties – include specialty areas, again keywords are important here
- Recommendations – for now I would request a recommendation from colleagues
- Custom URL - for your public profile, it is best to use your name or a variation of it. When adding a link to this URL you will always need to include the "www." Ex: <http://www.linkedin.com/in/fiannaparadis>

Adding Connections – Start out by connecting with people you know. An easy way to do this is to go to your address book and use the search on LinkedIn for everyone you know or once knew and invite them to join your network
