The Edward Pettinella '73 Ambassador in Business: Natsuki Takata ('24)

Turning Geneseo-Area Food Waste into Sustainable Meals

How might we turn local farm food waste which is still edible into healthy meals while creating a place where people get inspired to cook sustainably?

The Eddie Lee '76 Ambassadorship for First Generation Students: Francheska Colón ('23)

Black Literature: The New Curriculum

How might we design a literature-based curriculum for public schools that represents students of color through written works and films?

The James Houston '80 Ambassadorship in Innovation: Katelyn Adis ('24), Kayla Andersen ('24), Emma Parker ('24)

Solar Collector for Geneseo eGarden Greenhouse

How might we design a new eGarden solar collector to produce greater thermal output which will lengthen growing seasons and increase productivity of greenhouses, ultimately improving local food security?

The Ambassadorship in Diversity: Jocelyn Haines ('24)

Re-Plating Civic Engagement

How might we use design thinking to teach Geneseo students how to engage in more sustainable civic engagement using food insecurity in Uganda as an example?

The Frank Vafier '74 Ambassadorships in Leadership: Tashi Sherpa ('22)

Knight Food Rescue

How might we create an interactive platform to distribute excess foods left from catered events on campus to students?

The Frank Vafier '74 Ambassadorships in Leadership: Alyssa Lee ('24)

Chinatown Smiles: Creating Accessibility to Oral/Dental Care in NYC's Chinatown

How might we encourage and foster healthy oral hygiene behaviors in the Chinatown Asian American community, which may lack access to healthcare resources?

Community Advocates Ambassadorship in Community Engagement: Brennan Wilcox ('24)

Let's Get Vaccinated

How might we create a research-based vaccine outreach framework, using a process of empathizing, validating, and educating, to combat misinformation in the vaccine-hesitant community?

The John A. '87 and MaryGrace '84 Gleason Ambassadorship in Student Affairs: Lauren Goulet ('22) and Brendan Shortt ('23)

Big Change in a Little Space: On-Campus Food Forest

How might we establish a yield-producing food forest as a tool to inform and empower local farmers, members of the SUNY Geneseo community, and other community partners on sustainable food growing practices?
