

Faculty Fellowships

Humanities and Social Sciences

American Council of Learned Societies (ACLS)

Fellowships

Deadline: September 28, 2023

Awards: Maximum award $60K, 6-12 months

Tenure: six to twelve months devoted to full-time research and/or writing, to be initiated between July 1, 2024 and July 1, 2025, and to be completed by December 31, 2025. Six months of the fellowship tenure must be consecutive, but any remainder of the fellow's award term can be taken separately at a later date within the eligible award window. (See FAQ for more information.)

This year, the fellowship is open to untenured scholars, working on or off the tenure track, who have earned a PhD in the humanities or humanistic social sciences on or after September 29, 2015.

ACLS invites research proposals from scholars in all disciplines of the humanities and interpretive social sciences. Given the disproportionate effect the pandemic's social and economic disruptions have had on emerging, independent, and untenured scholars, ACLS will continue in the 2023-24 competition year to offer these fellowships solely to untenured scholars who have earned the PhD within eight years of the application deadline. ACLS welcomes applications from scholars without faculty appointments and scholars off the tenure track.

ACLS Project Development Grants support projects from scholars holding teaching-intensive positions. Eligible applicants who advance to the finalist round of the ACLS Fellowship program but are not selected for fellowships may be awarded a grant of $5,000 to help advance their projects. (See FAQ for more information.)

ACLS Barrington Foundation Centennial Fellowships in Classical Studies

ACLS Carl and Betty Pforzheimer Fellowships in English and American Literature

ACLS Frederic E. Wakeman, Jr. Fellowships in Chinese History

ACLS H. and T. King Fellowships in Ancient American Art and Culture

ACLS Marwan M. and Ute Kraidy Fellowships in the Arab World and Latin America

ACLS Morton N. Cohen and Richard N. Swift Fellowships

ACLS Oscar Handlin Fellowships in American History

ACLS Pauline Yu Fellowships in Chinese or Comparative Literature

ACLS Susan McClary and Robert Walser Fellowships in Music Studies

ACLS Yvette and William Kirby Centennial Fellowships in Chinese Studies

In addition, applicants for the ACLS Fellowship are eligible to apply for the ACLS/New York Public Library Fellowships. This joint fellowship requires a separate application to the Cullman Center, due in late September. Link

Luce/ACLS Program in Religion, Journalism & International Affairs collaborative Programming Grants

Deadline: Fellowships are due February 15, 2023

Awards: Up to $45 K

The Luce/ACLS Program in Religion, Journalism & International Affairs aims to deepen public understanding of religion by advancing innovative scholarship on religion in international contexts and by equipping individual scholars and institutions of higher education with the capacities to connect their work to journalism and the media and to engage audiences beyond the academy.

Proposals are sought for collaborative projects hosted at US-based accredited institutions of higher education with research and curricular strengths in journalism and communication and in the humanistic and social science fields concerned with the study of global religions (including, but not limited to, anthropology, area studies, history, languages and literature, political science, religious studies, and sociology). ACLS will award grants of up to $45,000 to institutions proposing interdisciplinary or cross-institutional collaborations that connect scholarship on religion to journalistic training and practice.

While the grants may support one or more of a broad range of objects for funding, applicants must propose activities that connect humanities and social science programs within their institution to journalism schools, departments, initiatives, or to external media organizations. Applicants are encouraged to propose activities that build on or extend current curricular and research strengths in relevant disciplinary areas. Successful approaches to such work might include a multimodal slate of campus programming that brings together journalists and religion scholars in workshops, seminars, courses, and public events; a symposium that blends thematic reflections on global religions with practice-oriented sessions on reaching out to audiences beyond the academy; or a course that offers humanities or social science students and/or faculty hands-on training as religion reporters. Proposals may propose a combination of approaches provided that applications demonstrate how the proposed activities complement one another. See the Luce/ACLS grantee page for examples of successful past projects. Link

American Councils for International Education

Title VIII Research Fellowships

Deadline: October 1

Awards:

Funded by the U.S. Department of State's Program for Research and Training on Eastern Europe and the Independent States of the Former Soviet Union (Title VIII), the program provides full support for graduate students, faculty, and independent scholars seeking to conduct in-country, independent research. The total value of each fellowship, administered by American Councils, ranges from $7,000 to $25,000, with actual levels of support depending on the duration of the overseas research period. Research Fellowships have two opportunities:

- The Combined Research and Language Training Program \(CLRT\) supports fellows who, in addition to conducting overseas, policy-relevant research, seek to increase their language proficiency through targeted language instruction. Fellowships last three to nine consecutive months and include round-trip international travel; housing and living stipends; visa support; overseas health, accident, and evacuation insurance; archive access; weekly language instruction in the host country language; and logistical support. Following the completion of the research term, fellows will return to the U.S. and share their findings through presentations, articles, and lectures in order to strengthen and broaden current scholarship on the region. Programs may be in one of twenty-two countries throughout Eastern Europe, Russia, and Eurasia. Link

- The Research Scholar Program supports fellows seeking to complete overseas, policy-relevant research. Fellowships last three to nine consecutive months and include round-trip international travel; housing and living stipends; visa support; overseas health, accident, and evacuation insurance; archive access; and logistical support. Following the completion of the research term, fellows will return to the U.S. and share their findings through presentations, articles, and lectures in order to strengthen and broaden current scholarship on the region. Programs may be in one of twenty-two countries throughout Eastern Europe, Russia, and Eurasia. Link

The American Historical Association (AHA)

Research Grants

Deadline: February 15

Awards: Within a five-year period, no individual is eligible to receive more than a combined total of $1,500 from all AHA research grants.

Each year, the American Historical Association awards several research grants with the aim of advancing the study and exploration of history in a diverse number of subject areas. All grants are awarded in June and may be used anytime in the subsequent 15 months for expenses related to furthering research in progress. Grants may be used for travel to a library or archive; microfilming, photography, or photocopying; borrowing or access fees; and similar research expenses—a list of purposes that is meant to be merely illustrative, not exhaustive (other expenses, such as child care, can be included). Only AHA members are eligible to apply for AHA research grants. Link

- The Albert J. Beveridge Grant for Research in the Western Hemisphere supports research in the history of the United States, Canada, and Latin America; individual grants do not exceed $1K.
- The Michael Kraus Research Grant in Colonial American History, with particular reference to the intercultural aspects of American and European relations, offers cash awards of up to $800.
- The Littleton-Griswold Grant offers grants of up to $1K for research in US legal history and in the general field of law and society, broadly defined.
- The Bernadotte Schmitt Grant supports research in the history of Europe, Asia, and Africa. Individual grants will not exceed $1,500.

Fellowships in Aerospace History

Deadline: April 1, 2024

Awards: $21,890 stipend 6-9 months, which includes travel expenses

The Fellowships in Aerospace History, supported by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), annually fund research projects from six to nine months. Proposals of advanced research in history related to all aspects of aerospace, from the earliest human interest in flight to the present, are eligible, including cultural and intellectual history, economic history, history of law and public policy, and history of science, engineering, and management. The fellowships are open to applicants who hold a doctoral degree in history or a closely related field, or who are enrolled in and have completed all course work for a doctoral degree-granting program. Preference is given to applicants in early stages of their careers. NASA provides funds to the American Historical Association, the History of Science Society (HSS), and the Society for the History of Technology (SHOT) to allow each association to award a fellowship. Link

American Philosophical Society (APS)

The Phillips Fund for Native American Research

Deadline: March 1, 2024

Awards: The average award is about $3K; grants do not exceed $3,500

The Phillips Fund of the American Philosophical Society provides grants for research in Native American linguistics, ethnohistory, and the history of studies of Native Americans, in the continental United States and Canada. The grants are intended for such costs as travel, tapes, films, and consultants' fees. Grants are not made for projects in archaeology, ethnography, or psycholinguistics; for the purchase of permanent equipment; or for the preparation of pedagogical materials. The committee distinguishes ethnohistory from contemporary ethnography as the study of cultures and cultural change through time. Link

Library Short-Term Resident Research Fellowships

Deadline: March 3, 2023

Awards: $3K per month (1-3 months)

The APS Library offers short-term residential fellowships for conducting research in its collections. It is a leading international center for research in the history of American science and technology and its European roots, as well as early American history and culture. The Library houses over 11 million manuscript items, 350,000 volumes of printed materials, thousands of maps and prints, and more than a thousand hours of audio recordings of Native American languages. Collections are renowned for their depth and interdisciplinary strengths in diverse fields, including Early American History and Culture to 1840; Atlantic History; Intellectual History; Travel, Exploration and Expeditions; History of Science, Technology and Medicine; History of Biochemistry, Physiology and Biophysics including 20th-Century Medical Research; History of Eugenics and Genetics; History of Physics, especially Quantum Physics; History of Natural History in the 18th and 19th Centuries; Anthropology, particularly Native American History, Culture and Languages; and Caribbean and Slavery Studies. The Library does not hold materials on philosophy in the modern sense. Fellowships may be taken beginning any day not earlier than June 1, 2019 and must be completed by May 31, 2020. Fellows are required to be in residence at the Library for four to twelve consecutive weeks, depending upon the length of the award. The duration of award is requested by the candidate, but the final decision is made by the Fellowship Committee. Link

Digital Humanities Fellowship

Deadline: Expected March 2024

Award: $3K per month (1-2 months)

These fellowships are open to scholars at all stages of their careers, including graduate students. Interested scholars may choose to submit proposals for projects that: 1) utilize the APS's Library holdings to advance a digital component of an independent research project, or, 2) seek to apply existing tools and expertise to digital projects developed in collaboration with the Library's Center for Digital Scholarship. Link

Andrew Mellon Foundation Native American Scholars Initiative (NASI) Fellowships

Deadline: Feb 3, 2023

Awards: 12-month residencies

The APS seeks applicants for predoctoral, postdoctoral, and short-term research fellowships open to scholars at all stages of their careers, especially Native American scholars in training, tribal college and university faculty members, and other scholars working closely with Native communities on projects. These funding opportunities are supported by The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation Native American Scholars Initiative (NASI). Fellows will be associated with the APS's new Center for Native American and Indigenous Research (CNAIR), which aims to promote greater collaboration between scholars, archives, and indigenous communities. Link

The American-Scandinavian Fellowships

Academic Fellowships & Grants

Deadline: November 1

Awards: Up to $23K (year-long) or short term (1-3 months) of up to $5 K

The American-Scandinavian Foundation (ASF) offers fellowships (up to $23K) and grants (up to $5K) to individuals to pursue research, study or creative arts projects in one or more Scandinavian country for up to one year. Grants are considered suitable for post-graduate scholars, professionals, and candidates in the arts to carry out research or study visits of one to three months duration. Link

Center for Advanced Studies in Behavior Sciences at Stanford University

Residential Postdoctoral Fellowship

Deadline: November 3, 2023

Awards: As appropriate, stipends for the academic year will be awarded to first-time fellows to supplement faculty sabbatical support. Returning fellows are expected to provide their own stipend. Stipends for first-time faculty may not exceed $81K, unless under special circumstance.

The Center offers a residential postdoctoral fellowship program for scientists and scholars from this country and abroad. Fellows represent the core social and behavioral sciences (anthropology, economics, history, political science, psychology, and sociology) but also the humanities, education, linguistics, communications, and the biological, natural, health, and computer sciences. The Center is pleased to partner with several entities to provide funding for some residential fellowships. Link

DOS – Council for International Exchange of Scholars

Core Fulbright U.S. Scholar Program

Deadline: September 15, 2023

Awards: Grant benefits vary by country and type of award. Generally speaking, Fulbright grants are budgeted to cover travel and living costs in-country for the grantee and their accompanying dependents.

The U.S. Fulbright Scholar Program offers nearly 470 teaching, research or combination teaching/research awards in over 125 countries. Opportunities are available for college and university faculty and administrators as well as for professionals, artists, journalists, scientists, lawyers, independent scholars and many others. Link

European University Institute

The Max Weber Fellowship Programme (MWP)

Deadline: October 18, 2023

Awards: The 1-2 year long fellowship provides 3,070 EUR per month plus a family allowance plus personal research fund of 1000 EUR - 2000 EUR for second or third year.

The MWP is a global programme at an institution located in Italy. Like the Fellows, Professors and Researchers at the European University Institute come from across Europe - from Portugal to Russia, and beyond it - from Asia and the Antipodes to North and Latin America, contributing their different academic traditions to the distinctive mix of the Institute. The MWP is open to eligible applicants who are within 5 years from the completion of their PhD, from anywhere in the world, regardless of nationality and including non-EU citizens. Preference is given to applicants who have only just completed their doctorate and have not had a post-doctoral fellowship before. Fellows are given training and support in all aspects of an academic career – from publishing and presenting, teaching, to applying for research grants and jobs. A particular focus is placed on communicating effectively in English to different kinds of academic audiences. The Programme awards one, two, and exceptionally three-year long fellowships according to departments. Link

The George A. and Eliza Gardner Howard Foundation

Fellowships

Deadline: November 1, 2023

Awards: Up to $40K

The Howard Foundation awards a limited number of fellowships each year for independent projects in selected fields. The Foundation targets its support specifically to early mid-career individuals, those who have achieved recognition for at least one major project. Howard Fellowships are intended primarily to provide artists and scholars with time to complete their work. They are not intended for publication subsidies, equipment purchase, preparation of exhibits, or to support institutional programs. There are no residency requirements for individuals during the time in which they receive awards. The Foundation is aware that leave patterns and individual career plans do not necessarily correspond to the Howard Foundation cycle of awards for individuals, and fellowship recipients in a given year may accordingly postpone receipt of their fellowship funds, if that is more convenient for them. A total of eight fellowships will be awarded for 2020-2021 in the fields Fiction, Poetry, and Playwriting and Theatre Studies. Link

The Gilder Lehrman Institute of American History

Gilder Lehrman Fellowships

Deadline: October 30, 2023

Awards: Up to $3K

Gilder Lehrman Fellowships are for doctoral candidates, postdoctoral scholars, college and university faculty at every rank, and independent scholars working in American history. International scholars are eligible to apply. Fellows will complete their research within a year of notification of the award, meet with the fellowship coordinator during their visit to New York City, and submit a separate paragraph documenting the archival collections consulted during the fellowship. Link

The Harry Ransom Center

Research Fellowship

Deadline: November 1, 2023

Awards: Up to $10.5K over three months

The Harry Ransom Center, an internationally renowned humanities research library and museum at The University of Texas at Austin, annually awards over 10 dissertation fellowships and 50 fellowships to support projects that require substantial on-site use of its collections. The fellowships support research in all areas of the humanities, including literature, photography, film, art, the performing arts, music, and cultural history. The fellowships range from one to three months, with stipends of $3,500 per month. Also available are travel stipends up to $2,000 and dissertation fellowships with a $2,000 stipend. International fellows will receive an additional $500 stipend to offset visa and travel costs. Link

Harvard University's Davis Center for Russian & Eurasian Studies

Post-Doctoral and Senior Fellowships

Deadline: September 2023

Awards: Up to $406K with an additional $2K research stipend

The Davis Center Fellows Program offers comprehensive research, training, and professional development opportunities for scholars advancing their careers within the social sciences and humanities. Fellows pursue their research with support from an interdisciplinary community of experts, and with access to world-class resources. Fellows are expected to be in residence at the Davis Center for the entire duration of their fellowship and to work primarily from their Davis Center office. Link

Harvard University's Center for Italian Renaissance Studies

I Tatti Fellowships

Deadline: October 16, 2023

Awards: Up to $65K plus a supplement towards relocation expenses

15 I Tatti Residential Fellowships, each for twelve months, are available annually for post-doctoral research in any aspect of the Italian Renaissance, broadly understood historically to include the period from the 14th to the 17th century and geographically to include transnational dialogues between Italy and other cultures (e.g. Latin American, Mediterranean, African, Asian, etc.). At the time of application, scholars must hold a PhD, dottorato di ricerca, or an equivalent degree. They must be conversant in either English or Italian and able to understand both languages. They should be in the early stages of their career, having received a PhD between 2009-2018 and have a solid background in Italian Renaissance studies. Candidates may not be working on a second PhD at the time of application. In light of the residential nature of this fellowship, Fellows must live in the Florence area and be present at the Villa and at lunch at least three days a week beginning the first week of September. Link

Humboldt Foundation

Research Fellowships for Postdoctoral Researchers

Deadline: There is no closing date for submitting applications

Awards: €2,670 per month plus additional benefits detailed below

In providing Humboldt Research Fellowships for postdoctoral researchers, the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation enables highly-qualified scientists and scholars from abroad who are just embarking on their academic careers and who completed their doctorates less than four years ago to spend extended periods of research (6–24 months) in Germany. Scientists and scholars from all disciplines and countries may apply. Additional benefits for research fellows include: lump sum for travel expenses; language fellowship; family allowance; a flat-rate allowance for single-parents; an additional extension of up to 12 months for fellowships accompanied by children under the age of 12; a subsidy towards research costs; a Europe allowance for stay at another research institute; and extensive alumni sponsorship. Link

Research Fellowships for Experienced Researchers

Deadline: There is no closing date for submitting applications

Awards: €3,170 per month plus additional benefits detailed below

In providing Humboldt Research Fellowships for experienced researchers, the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation enables highly-qualified scientists and scholars from abroad, who completed their doctorates less than twelve years ago to spend extended periods of research (6-18 months; may be divided up into a maximum of three blocks) in Germany. Candidates are expected to have their own clearly defined research profile. This means they should usually be working at least at the level of Assistant Professor or Junior Research Group Leader, or be able to document independent research work over a number of years. Scientists and scholars from all disciplines and countries may apply. Additional benefits for research fellows include: lump sum for travel expenses; language fellowship; family allowance; a flat-rate allowance for single-parents; an additional extension of up to 12 months for fellowships accompanied by children under the age of 12; a subsidy towards research costs; a Europe allowance for stay at another research institute; and extensive alumni sponsorship. Link

The Huntington Library

Fellowships

Deadline: November 15, 2023

Awards: Varies by fellowship; awards are typically made for up to $50K

The Huntington's independent research library has significant holdings in British and American history; British and American literature; art history, the history of science and medicine; and the history of the book. Through a rigorous peer review program, the institution awards approximately 200 fellowships to scholars in the fields of history, literature, art, and the history of science. These scholarly pursuits have led to best-selling books, Pulitzer Prizes, acclaimed documentary films, and many history and social studies textbooks. Link

The John W. Kluge Center

David B. Larson Fellowship in Health and Spirituality

Deadline: September 15, 2023

Awards: Stipend of $5K per month for six to twelve months

The John W. Kluge Center at the Library of Congress invites qualified scholars to apply for a post-doctoral fellowship in the field of health and spirituality. Made possible by a generous endowment from the International Center for the Integration of Health and Spirituality (ICIHS), the fellowship is named in honor of the Center's late founder, David B. Larson, an epidemiologist and psychiatrist, who focused on potentially relevant but understudied factors which might help in prevention, coping, and recovering from illness. The fellowship is designed to continue Dr. Larson's legacy of promoting meaningful, scholarly study of these two important and increasingly interrelated fields. It seeks to encourage the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the scientific study of the relation of religiousness and spirituality to physical, mental, and social health. Link

John Carter Brown Library

Hodson Trust – John Carter Brown Library Fellowship

Deadline: January 9, 2023

Awards: The stipend is $5K per month for a total of $20K, plus housing and university privileges

The Hodson Trust –John Carter Brown Library Fellowship supports work by academics, independent scholars and writers working on significant projects relating to the literature, history, culture, or art of the Americas before 1830. Candidates with a U.S. history topic are strongly encouraged to concentrate on the period prior to 1801. The fellowship is also open to filmmakers, novelists, creative and performing artists, and others working on projects that draw on this period of history. The four-month fellowship is divided into two parts – two months of research at the John Carter Brown Library during the academic year and two months of writing at the C.V. Staff Center at Washington College in Chestertown, MD during the following summer. Link

James McKeen Cattell Fund

Fellowships

Deadline: January 15, 2023

Awards: Up to $40K

For over half a century, the James McKeen Cattell Fund has provided support for the science and the application of psychology. The Fund offers a program of supplementary sabbatical awards ("James McKeen Cattell Fund Fellowships"). These awards supplement the regular sabbatical allowance provided by the recipients' home institutions, to allow an extension of leave-time from one to two semesters. Information on the history of the fund, application materials, requirements for award eligibility, and a list of previous recipients are available on this site. Link

National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH)

Fellowships

Deadline: Anticipated January 10, 2024

Awards: $5K per month for six to twelve months

Fellowships provide recipients time to conduct research or to produce books, monographs, peer-reviewed articles, e-books, digital materials, translations with annotations or a critical apparatus, or critical editions resulting from previous research. Projects may be at any stage of development. NEH invites research applications from scholars in all disciplines of the humanities, and encourages submissions from independent scholars and junior scholars. Link

Summer Stipends

Deadline: September 20, 2023

Awards: $6K for two consecutive months of research and writing

The National Endowment for the Humanities' Summer Stipends program aims to stimulate new research in the humanities and its publication. The program works to accomplish this goal by: providing small awards to individuals pursuing advanced research that is of value to humanities scholars, general audiences, or both; supporting projects at any stage of development, but most especially early-stage research and late-stage writing in which small awards are most effective; and furthering the NEH's commitment to diversity and inclusion in the humanities by encouraging applications from independent scholars and faculty at Hispanic Serving Institutions, Historically Black Colleges and Universities, tribal colleges and universities, and community colleges. Summer Stipends support continuous full-time work on a humanities project for a period of two consecutive months. NEH funds may support recipients' compensation, travel, and other costs related to the proposed scholarly research. Link

Collaborative Research Grants

Deadline: November 29, 2023

Awards: Varies based on grant type; the maximum award amount is $250K over one to three years or up to $3000 for collaborations that include a community college or certain minority-serving institutions.

Collaborative Research grants support groups of two or more scholars engaging in significant and sustained research in the humanities. The program seeks to encourage projects in a single field of study, as well as interdisciplinary work, both within the humanities and beyond. Projects that include partnerships with researchers from the natural and social sciences are encouraged, but they must remain firmly rooted in the humanities and must employ humanistic methods. Eligible projects must propose tangible and sustainable outcomes such as co-authored or multi-authored books; born-digital publications; themed issues of peer-reviewed journals; and open-access digital resources. Link

Fellowships for Advanced Social Science Research on Japan

Deadline: January 24, 2024

Awards: $5K per month over six to twelve months

The Fellowships for Advanced Social Science Research on Japan program is a joint activity of the Japan-U.S. Friendship Commission (JUSFC) and the National Endowment for the Humanities. The program aims to promote Japan studies in the United States, to encourage U.S.-Japanese scholarly exchange, and to support the next generation of Japan scholars in the U.S. Awards support research on modern Japanese society and political economy, Japan's international relations, and U.S.-Japan relations. The program encourages innovative research that puts these subjects in wider regional and global contexts and is comparative and contemporary in nature. Research should contribute to scholarly knowledge or to the general public's understanding of issues of concern to Japan and the United States. Appropriate disciplines for the research include anthropology, economics, geography, history, international relations, linguistics, political science, psychology, and sociology. Awards usually result in articles, monographs, books, e-books, digital materials, translations, editions, or other scholarly resources. The fellowships are designed for researchers with advanced Japanese language skills whose research will require use of data, sources, and documents, onsite interviews, or other direct contact in Japanese. Fellows may undertake their projects in Japan, the United States, or both, and may include work in other countries for comparative purposes. Projects may be at any stage of development. Link

National Humanities Center (Research Triangle, NC)

Residential Fellowships

Deadline: October 5, 2023

Awards: The amounts awarded are individually determined, according to the needs of the Fellow and the Center's ability to meet them. The Center seeks to provide half salary with the expectation that the Fellow's home institution covers the remaining salary.

The National Humanities Center offers 40 residential fellowships for advanced study in the humanities. Applicants must have doctorate or equivalent scholarly credentials. Mid-career and senior scholars are encouraged to apply. Emerging scholars with a strong record of peer-reviewed work may also apply. In addition to scholars from all fields of the humanities, the Center accepts individuals from the natural and social sciences, the arts, the professions, and public life who are engaged in humanistic projects. The Center is international in scope and welcomes applications from scholars outside the United States. Link

University of Edinburgh

Postdoctoral Fellowships

Deadline: Expected April 26, 2024

Awards: up to £15,000

The School of Literatures, Languages and Cultures welcomes Postdoctoral Fellows to its vibrant research community. We currently host three Leverhulme Trust Early Career Fellows, one British Academy Postdoctoral Fellow, one Daphne Jackson Fellow and one Marie Skłodowska-Curie Fellow. In short, an IASH Postdoctoral Fellowship provides: Research visit at the University of Edinburgh for three to ten months; Bursary of up to a maximum of £12,500; Dedicated office space, University e-mail and library access; An allocated University mentor from an area relevant to the Fellows' research interests; Weekly Fellows' Lunch to build community; Collegial work-in-progress seminar series for testing new ideas; Calendar of engaging events at the Institute and College; and Opportunities to participate in and design funded workshops, colloquia etc. at the Institute. Link

IASH-SSPS Visiting Research Fellowships

Deadline: February 23, 2024

Awards: Fellowships are usually for a duration of one semester (3-4 months), and not less than 2 months, and are usually funded at approximately £1,300-£3,900 as a contribution towards additional living costs, and/or travel grants of up to £500.

These Fellowships seek to encourage outstanding research, international scholarly collaboration, and networking activities of Visiting Research Fellows together with academics in the School of Social and Political Science (SSPS). Fellows will be expected to work in collaboration with one or more members of SSPS academic staff, and to take an active part in IASH interdisciplinary events. The Institute for Advanced Studies in the Humanities is housed in an 18th century courtyard close to the University Library and about 20 scholars are in residence at any time. Fellows are allocated a private office in the Institute with all the usual research facilities. During their stay in Edinburgh, IASH-SSPS Visiting Research Fellows will be expected to make two seminar presentations on their research – one at IASH and one in SSPS – and to take part in IASH work-in-progress sessions and relevant seminars in SSPS. Link

Woodrow Wilson Center

Fellowship

Deadline: October 1, 2023

Awards: $90K for a nine-month fellowship

Through an international competition, the Center offers 9-month residential fellowships. Fellows conduct research and write in their areas of interest, while interacting with policymakers in Washington and Wilson Center staff. The Center accepts non-advocacy, policy-relevant, fellowship proposals that address key challenges of past, present and future issues confronting the United States and the world. The Center offers a stipend of $90,000 for a nine-month fellowship. Fellows are responsible for their own health insurance and travel expenses. Link

